About GGSIPU

Established in 1998 by the Government of NCT of Delhi under the Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University Act, 1998, with subsequent amendments in 1999, Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University (GGSIPU) is the first university in the region. Recognized by the University Grants Commission (UGC), India, GGSIPU holds accreditation with a CGPA of 3.56 on a seven-point scale, earning an A++ Grade, valid for seven years from February 14, 2023, along with a remarkable position on the QS Rankings. As a teaching and affiliating university, World GGSIPU focuses on facilitating and promoting studies, research, and extension work in professional education, including engineering, technology, management studies, medicine, pharmacy, nursing, education, law, and more, with an overarching aim of achieving excellence in these fields.

About USLLS

Established in 2001, the University School of Law and Legal Studies (USLLS) aimed to administer a Five Year Integrated Professional Law Course and function as an institution for advanced legal studies and has become one of India's top law Universities. It marked a significant milestone as the first University Law School situated in close proximity to the Supreme Court, Delhi High Court, subordinate courts, commissions, tribunals, and the monitoring offices of national and international voluntary organizations. The University School of Law and Legal Studies is committed to advancing institutional expertise in legal research and education by enhancing academic and professional excellence. This commitment involves fostering critical engagement with legal theory and practice, integrating law, research, education, and action to contribute to the pursuit of justice. The institution aspires to broaden its horizons in the realms of law, legal studies, and theoretical and clinical legal education. This continuous effort includes developing academic potential, critical analytical ability, advocacy, counselling, and mediation skills to thoroughly equip students with intellectually stimulating, socially relevant, and professionally enriching learning experiences. The overarching objective is to establish itself as an internationally recognized centre for education and research.

About IPU IPR CELL

The Intellectual Property Rights Cell (IPRC) at Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University (IPU) in Delhi embodies a commitment to fostering innovation, creativity, and knowledge creation within the university community. With a vision to lead in knowledge creation by stimulating innovations and creativity in emerging areas of higher professional education, IPRC plays a pivotal role in championing the protection and deployment of intellectual property (IP).

At its core, IPRC is dedicated to raising awareness among faculty, non-teaching staff, librarians, and students about the significance and economic benefits of intellectual property rights (IPR). Through a multi-faceted approach, it sensitizes all stakeholders to the diverse aspects of IPR, actively promotes research endeavors by providing support for effective patenting and other forms of IP protection, and fosters an environment conducive to the commercialization of university knowledge.

In alignment with its objectives, IPRC operates as a guiding force, offering guidance, resources, and support to all members of the GGSIP University Delhi community. It ensures transparency and fairness in the implementation of IP policies, encourages compliance, and continually solicits feedback to enhance policy effectiveness. Moreover, IPRC conducts workshops to enhance awareness on issues related to ownership, confidentiality, patentability, technology transfer, and more. Facilitating collaboration both internally and externally, IPRC leverages synergistic alliances with national and international stakeholders along the knowledge chain. Furthermore, it provides consultancy services for patents registration and other branches of IPR, and offers mediation and redressal of IPR disputes.

About USLLS IPR CELL

The USLLS IPR (University School of Law and Legal Studies Intellectual Property Rights) Cell stands as a cornerstone in fostering a culture of innovation, protection, and dissemination of intellectual property rights within the legal education landscape. Rooted within the esteemed University School of Law and Legal Studies, the IPR Cell aims to educate, advocate, and engage with stakeholders on various aspects of intellectual property law, including patents, trademarks, copyrights, and trade secrets. Its primary objectives encompass nurturing a comprehensive understanding of IP laws among students, faculty, and the broader community, facilitating research and scholarship in the field, and providing consultancy services to individuals and organizations seeking guidance on IP matters. The strengths of the USLLS IPR Cell lie in its interdisciplinary approach, drawing expertise from law, technology, business, and other relevant domains to offer holistic solutions to contemporary IP challenges. With a dedicated team of legal scholars, practitioners, and industry experts, the cell fosters a dynamic environment for discourse, innovation, and practical application of IP principles. Through seminars, workshops, research publications, and collaborative initiatives, the cell serves as a catalyst for empowering stakeholders to navigate the intricacies of intellectual property rights effectively, thus contributing significantly to the advancement of knowledge-based economies and societal development.

Message from the Vice Chancellor

I extend my warm greetings and felicitations to the University School of Law and Legal Studies (USLLS) for organizing the Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Week from the 22nd to the 26th of April, 2024. This initiative is commendable and will provide our aspiring legal minds with a platform to explore the intricate realm of intellectual property law and showcase their skills and understanding in this vital area of legal practice.

Events like these not only foster a competitive spirit but also facilitate the exchange of ideas and knowledge among participants, contributing to the collective growth of all involved. Practical application of legal principles, as showcased in events such as Panel Discussions, Guest Lectures, Case Studies, Patent Drafting Competition, Paper Presentation, and Movie Screenings, is essential for honing the skills of future legal professionals.

Congratulations to USLLS on organizing this event. USLLS has consistently upheld its reputation as one of the premier Schools of our University, with high national rankings in legal education.

I understand that this event will feature a diverse range of activities spanning both legal and intellectual property spheres. These may include engaging panel discussions on contemporary IP issues, insightful guest lectures by renowned experts in the field, analysis of case studies highlighting intricate IP matters, stimulating debates on IP policies, creative patent drafting competitions, thought-provoking paper presentations, and informative movie screenings exploring various aspects of intellectual property rights.

This week-long event presents an excellent opportunity for students to showcase their talents and delve deeper into the intricacies of intellectual property law. I am confident that active participation will help develop critical thinking, enhance articulation and public speaking skills, and nurture the ability to construct and present legal arguments effectively. I urge all students to wholeheartedly participate in the IPR Week. Embrace the competitive spirit, engage in enriching discussions, and seize this opportunity to broaden your understanding of intellectual property rights.

I extend my best wishes to the faculty and students of the University School of Law and Legal Studies for a successful Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Week!

Message from the Dean, USLLS

As the Dean of USLLS, I am thrilled to address you in anticipation of our upcoming Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Week. This week-long celebration not only highlights the significance of intellectual property but also underscores our institution's dedication to nurturing the growth and development of our students.

At USLLS, we take great pride in fostering a nurturing and inclusive learning environment that prioritizes the intellectual, professional, and personal growth of each and every student. This event serves as a testament to this commitment, providing our students with valuable opportunities to showcase their talents, explore new interests, and connect with mentors, alumni, and industry professionals. From thought-provoking panel discussions to inspiring guest lectures, from challenging case study competitions to hands-on patent drafting competitions, there's something for everyone to participate in and benefit from.

As we come together to celebrate IPR WEEK, let us reaffirm our commitment to providing our students with the resources, support, and opportunities they need to thrive both inside and outside the classroom. Together, let us continue to cultivate a culture of excellence, innovation, and lifelong learning that empowers our students to reach their full potential and make meaningful contributions to society.

Message from the Chairperson, IPU-IPR Cell

I am delighted to extend a warm welcome to you and share our dedication to foster a culture of innovation and excellence through the upcoming Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Week at our esteemed institution. As the Director of the IPR Cell, I am excited to showcase the talent and potential of our students who are eager to participate in this enriching event.

At our university, we are committed to providing a platform for our students to delve into the intricate world of intellectual property rights. Through a blend of academic rigour and practical experience, we aim to equip our students with the knowledge and skills necessary to excel in the field of intellectual property law.

The mission of our IPR Week is to raise awareness and promote understanding of intellectual property rights through various educational initiatives, workshops, seminars, and interactive sessions. Our students are not only future legal professionals but also potential innovators and thought leaders in the field of intellectual property. I am confident that IPR Week will serve as a catalyst for their growth and development, enabling them to make meaningful contributions to the ever-evolving landscape of intellectual property rights.

I look forward to welcoming you all to IPR Week and witnessing the passion and dedication of our students as they explore the fascinating world of intellectual property rights.

Warm regards.

ABOUT IPR WEEK 2024

The Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Week, organized by the University School of Law and Legal Studies, serves as a significant platform for exploring the intricate realm of intellectual property law. This event is designed to raise awareness and facilitate meaningful discussions on the importance of intellectual property rights in fostering innovation, creativity, and economic growth in today's knowledge-based economy. Throughout the week, participants will engage in an interactive panel discussion featuring experts from academia, industry, and legal practice, addressing topics including copyright law, patent law, trademarks, and emerging trends in intellectual property. Additionally, the event will host an informative guest lecture by renowned scholars and practitioners, providing invaluable insights into specialized areas of intellectual property law. Central to the IPR Week are activities such as a case study analysis, a patent drafting competition, a paper presentation, and a movie screening, all aimed at deepening understanding and fostering critical thinking in intellectual property matters. Moreover, networking sessions will offer students opportunities to connect with legal practitioners, industry professionals, and alumni, facilitating mentorship and career guidance in the field. By promoting interdisciplinary dialogue and respect for intellectual property rights, IPR Week aims to empower participants to navigate the complex landscape of intellectual property law with confidence and integrity, contributing to the advancement of innovation and creativity within the academic community and beyond.
