ALL ABOUT LAW

About NLIU

The National Law Institute University, Bhopal was established by the Rashtriya Vidhi Sansthan Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam, Act No. 41 of 1997, and substituted by Act No. 6 of 2018, enacted by the Madhya Pradesh State Legislature.

Nestled in a serene campus near Kerwa Dam, NLIU is one of India's most prominent law schools. Renowned for its interdisciplinary legal education and research excellence, the university aspires to become one of the world's leading centers of legal education, training, and research. Its mission is to develop and nurture intellect for the betterment of the nation and humanity through law and justice.

NLIU aims to impart and disseminate comprehensive legal education to achieve excellence by organizing progressive study programs and promoting research. The university focuses on enhancing students' and research scholars' ability to analyse contemporary public concerns and their legal implications, equipping law learners with the skills to advance legal education in a professional and responsible manner.

About Centre for Law and Economics

The Centre for Law and Economics (CLE) is dedicated to fostering an environment conducive to interdisciplinary research, aimed at enhancing student learning and academic development. The Centre is committed to advancing research and publishing scholarly work in the domain of Law and Economics, encouraging active student participation at all levels. The CLE aims to explore and propose efficient solutions to various socio-economic and legal challenges, contributing to the betterment of society and the economy. It strives to assist policymakers by critically appraising existing policies, legislations, and regulations, offering insightful and effective recommendations. To further its mission, the Centre actively seeks to collaborate with governmental bodies, regulators, research institutes, and national and international universities through Memoranda of Understanding (MoU).

About the Centre for Tribal Studies and Research

The Centre for Tribal Studies and Research (CTSR) has been established with the objective of having an all-inclusive view of the issues concerning tribal rights, the preservation and protection of their cultural heritage and traditional knowledge. The centre is involved in studies and research related to tribal law and related issues, focusing on the implementation of the Government of India and state governments' schemes for tribals, as well as the evaluation of such schemes in collaboration with NGOs, CBOs, and Government Bodies. The centre also focuses on the publication and organisation of seminars, conferences/training programmes in areas such as education, economy, resettlement and rehabilitation, forest rights, customary laws, and the tribal criminal justice system.

Concept Note

India's development journey, aligned with the Viksit Bharat Abhiyan and Atmanirbhar Bharat (Self-Reliant India), highlights the need for a robust legal framework to foster economic growth, investor confidence, and sustainable entrepreneurship. Strong governance, competition policies, financial regulations, and dispute resolution mechanisms are critical to creating a business-friendly environment. Integrating legal reforms with the New Education Policy (NEP) 2020 further promotes skill development, financial inclusion, and innovation, key drivers for India's aspiration to become a developed economy by 2047. Strengthening laws related to ease of doing business, intellectual property rights, and public-private partnerships will enhance resilience and global competitiveness and will also provide various opportunities to marginalized communities like tribes. This International Conference, jointly hosted by the Centre for Law and Economics (CLE) and the Centre for Tribal Studies and Research (CTSR), seeks to explore the intersection of law and economics in driving national development. It aims to bring together scholars, professionals, and students to analyse policy trends, evaluate reforms, and foster interdisciplinary dialogue through interactive formats like presentations, and group discussions. The event encourages research-based discussion to craft forward-looking solutions for sustainable growth, which can be applied in the recent economic scenario.

Conference Objectives

- To analyze the intersection of law and economics for formulating policies that support India's vision of becoming a developed nation by 2047.
- To examine the impact of legal and regulatory frameworks on economic growth, ease of doing business, entrepreneurship, and social equity.
- To explore the legal and economic implications of emerging technologies such as FinTech, Artificial Intelligence, and Blockchain for governance and market efficiency.
- To evaluate India's trade, investment, and sustainable development policies within the global legal order, with a focus on inclusivity and judicial efficiency.

Expected Outcome

- Development of actionable policy recommendations for regulatory agencies, legislators, and the business community to align legal frameworks with India's economic growth and reform agenda.
- Publication and dissemination of conference proceedings, research papers, and expert insights to enrich public discourse on the role of law and economics in India's development.
- Enhanced institutional collaboration between legal, economic, and business faculties to drive interdisciplinary reforms and curriculum enrichment.
- Improved understanding among lawyers, economists, policymakers, and students regarding the legal-economic interface, fostering informed decision-making for a globally competitive India by 2047.
